New Vocabulary to review at home!
Organism, Environment, Adaptations

What are we Learning?

We have begun a new unit on Animal Adaptations!

Reading: Students are practicing asking questions before, during, and after reading. They are working with thin questions (who, what, when, where, why, and how) as well as thick questions (what if, how did, how would you feel...). Please reinforce these ideas when reading nightly.

Math: Students are working on multiplication strategies. We will be finishing this unit October 28th and be revisiting double digit addition and subtraction immediately after.

Writing: Students are studying nonfiction mentor texts and looking for technique and craft styles specific to the genre to try out in their own writing!

Spelling: We will be beginning word work in class next week. Students will be studying patterns, and blends in words to assist with reading and writing skills.
